CIRCULAR TO THE PROPRIETORS OF NURSERIES.

In addition to the Trees, Shrubbery, etc., of all kinds enumerated in our Catalogues, which are offered to you of the usual size at a liberal discount from the regular prices, we have on hand a very large stock of less size, from one year's growth upwards, which we will sell at diminished rates in proportion thereto. Where the quantity taken is large, and not less than 12, or at the least 6 of any one kind, the proportionate trouble being thereby lessened, the prices will be put at the lowest rates. The same arrangement will be applied to all articles in the other Nursery departments, and a Catalogue rated according to size and quantity will be sent to applicants. Copious remarks on every point connected with the transactions of our business are attached to the Catalogue of Fruits.

PRICES OF THE VARIOUS ARTICLES.

It is well known that there exists a considerable variation in the prices charged at the different Nurseries of the Union, and it is the determination of the Proprietors of this Establishment to supply all articles as cheap, and in most cases much cheaper than they are obtainable elsewhere. It should nevertheless be understood that a similarity or diminution in price does not in all cases constitute cheapness. The first question to be considered by the purchaser is the genuineness of the articles, and this especially applies to Fruits, and to the most rare and valuable Flowering Shrubs and Plants. The second question should refer to the size and vigor of the respective Trees and Plants, there being an important difference to the purchaser whether these are well grown and of proper size, or on the other hand mere offsets or small specimens. It is in these highly important points that this ancient Establishment possesses prëeminent advantages, derived from the abundant stock of strong and well-grown Trees and Shrubbery, and also from the opportunities which time and investigation have afforded for proving the accuracy and excellence of the Fruits, and the beauty and value of the Ornamental Shrubs, etc. We have only further to say that it is our determination that those who may deal extensively with us, shall find it to their interest to do so, as well in regard to the prices charged, as in many other important particulars.

REMARKS ON THE DAHLIA.

It may be asserted without fear of contradiction, that at no period since the era of the famed Tulipo-mania, has the attention of the votaries of Flora been so universally devoted to any flower as it now is to the Dahlia, the "Glory of the Autumn." To the varieties first cultivated, the objection was justly made that the expansion of their flowers commenced too late in the season to merit much estimation, but culture and judicious propagation have removed this difficulty as regards the new varieties. These commence blooming the middle of June, and continue until arrested by frost, our fine American autumn being particularly favorable to their development. The new varieties produce also much greater profusion of flowers than the older sorts. This magnificent plant therefore, ranks in splendor and diversity of form with the far-famed Tulip and the Rose. Many of the varieties are inconceivably beautiful and interesting, and there seems a never-ending variation of color and form.

The numerous varieties combine the richest shades and most varied hues of which nature is susceptible, with every diversity in shape and magnitude, from the size of a small globe an inch and a half in diameter, to an expanded disk twenty-four inches in circumference!

Rivalling as they do all other plants of the garden in their majestic appearance and gorgeous display, they also combine the merit of facility of culture to such a degree, that the most ignorant can scarcely fail of success; and, indeed, the day is not distant, when the number of varieties will surpass that of either the Hyacinth, the Tulip, the Rose, or the Carnation, and the numerous Striped, Variegated, and Mottled Dahlias, will then be designated under the various classes of Flakes, Bizarres, etc., in the same manner as the Carnation; the connoisœurs, without doubt, becoming quite as fastidious in regard to the formation and color of the petals, as they now are in respect to the last named flower.

DAHLIAS IN ASSORTMENTS, etc., the selections to be made by the purchaser. Where one dozen or more roots are ordered, a discount of 25 per cent. will be made; on 50 roots, 30 per cent.; and on 100 roots or more, 33 per cent.

Dahlias in Assortments, selected by the Proprietors, will be supplied at $50, $37 50, $30, and $25 per 100, according to their beauty and rarity.

TERMS.—Our prices are rated very low for prompt payment, and we make it our present rule to run no risk, and we furthermore make it a great object to purchasers to deal with us by the saving in prices and discounts. However where drafts or notes are transmitted that are perfectly good, payable at 3, 4, or 6 months, they will be received in payment.

PRINCE'S

LINNÆAN BOTANIC GARDEN AND NURSERIES,

FLUSHING, NEAR NEW-YORK.

CATALOGUE OF

SPLENDID DOUBLE DAHLIAS, &C.

CAUTION.—All orders must be directed with precision to Wm. R. Prince & Co., Flushing, by mail, or left at the office, 23 Pine St., New York, and no other person whatever is authorised to receive orders for us in New York.

The present magnificent and unrivalled Collection of Dahlias comprises, as will be perceived on investigation, the most splendid varieties of every class that have yet appeared in Europe or America, many of which have been imported at an expense of three to five guineas each, and the dry roots were only obtained in time for this spring's propagation by special favor. Above 100 of the most rare varieties are not in any other American Collection.

The plants are deliverable in pots during the months of May and June. Dry roots are deliverable from the first of October to the first of May, but to ensure a supply of all that are wanted, the orders should be forwarded in good season. Plants of both descriptions can be packed for safe transmission to any part of the Union. In arranging the nomenclature, the name of the original grower is inserted after the name of each variety and is printed in italics. In planting, let the soil be moderately rich and well worked. Turn the plants out of the pots and plant them in the open ground as soon as received. Take the roots up in autumn as soon as the tops are dead, dry them a few days, and then pack them in sand and place them in a cellar for the winter. In respect to prices, it is the determination of the proprietors to supply their patrons on the most favorable terms, and they will perceive on examination that the prices named are much below those usually charged. Where an order is sent for a considerable amount, a discount will be made in proportion thereto. The packages will be delivered at 23 Pine street, New York, or shipped to any place designated.

BULBOUS AND TUBEROUS ROOTED FLOWERS,

OF THE MOST CHOICE AND SPLENDID VARIETIES,

In addition to the immense stock under cultivation in the establishment, the proprietors make very large annual importations of the choicest new varieties from Europe. The following have been selected with great care from the finest foreign collections, and are remarkable for their size, beauty, and peculiarity, and for the delicacy of their tints. In the selection no expense has been spared, and great exertions and large disbursements have been made, in order to obtain the most beautiful varieties of every class. It can, therefore, with the utmost confidence be asserted, that this collection is unrivalled in extent and variety. The whole are cultivated under the same names by which they were imported, and the prices are greatly reduced, and are lower than have ever before been offered to the public, the great increase of our stock enabling us to tender this advantage to purchasers. Those who purchase to re-vend, will be dealt with on the most reasonable terms; and where no wholesale prices are named, a deduction of 25 per cent. will be made from the retail prices.

Orders for Bulbous roots should be forwarded from September to December, inclusive. In open winters they may be planted at any time when the ground is workable, and the bulbs have not grown too much.

At the conclusion of the present Catalogue the necessary directions are given for their culture, etc.

Where the prices are by assortment, or by the dozen, the selection of the varieties is to be made by the proprietors; but if applicants will name such as they already possess, those varieties will be omitted in the selection.

* denotes the earliest varieties, most proper for blooming in glasses or pots.

† denotes those that are tender.

SINGLE HYACINTHS.

In regard to Single Hyacinths an incorrect prejudice exists, arising from the fact that their peculiar merits are but little known. For early flowering, and particularly for glasses or pots, they are extremely desirable; they combine the most brilliant colors, and surpass the double varieties in the profusion of their bells. It may in fact be said that they precede the double varieties, and thus in a general collection extend the period during which we may enjoy the beauties and fragrance of this delightful class of flowers.

DIRECTIONS FOR THE CULTURE OF BULBOUS AND TUBEROUS ROOTS.

Situation.—A southern aspect, dry and airy, and sheltered from the north winds, is preferable for most bulbs; but Anemones and Ranunculuses will do better in a situation commanding a southern aspect, and which can be protected from the heat of noonday.

Soil.—The following compost is most suitable for the Hyacinth, Tulip, Crown Imperial, Narcissus, Crocus, Snow Flake, Iris, Lily, Colchicum, Anemone, Ranunculus, Snow Drop, and most other bulbs:—One-third sand, one-third well-rotted cow-dung, and one-third good garden mould. Let the beds thus formed be well dug over to the depth of fifteen or eighteen inches, that the materials be well mixed together; a fourth part of rotten wood, or vegetable mould from a swamp, may be added to the above, if conveniently to be obtained, which will, at all times, be beneficial in giving additional lightness to the soil.

The various species of the Amaryllis succeed best in a rich sandy loam; and the families of the Ixia, Oxalis, Feraria, Gladiolus, Antholyza, Lachenalia, and most other Cape and Tropical bulbs, require the soil to be more sandy than for the generality of other bulbs.

Forming the Beds.—The beds should be raised about four inches above the level of the walks, and moderately arched, which will afford an opportunity for the superfluous moisture to run off. Sand (either sea or fresh) strewed in the trenches, before and after placing the roots, will be beneficial.

Time of Planting.—For the Hyacinth, Tulip, Crown Imperial, Squill, Lily, Polyanthus Narcissus, Double Narcissus, Jonquil, Iris, Crocus, Colchicum, Star of Bethlehem, Snow Drop, Snow Flake, Gladiolus, Allium, and most other hardy bulbs, the preferable season for planting is the months of October and November—and it is well to be observed, that the species of bulbs above named, (Tulips excepted,) will thrive best if not taken from the ground oftener than every second or third year. The different species of the Feraria, Antholyza, Ixia, Crinum, Hæmanthus, Eucomis, the tender species of Amaryllis, Pancratium, and Gladiolus, and most other delicate bulbs, may be planted during the months of November and December, in pots, when intended to be sheltered during the winter, or they can be kept in dry sand until April or May, and then be planted in pots, or in the open ground, when it has become free from frost, and perfectly settled.

Depth and Distance.—Hyacinths, Persian Fritillary, Martagon, and other Lilies, and Pæonies, should be planted at the depth of four inches; Crown Imperials and Polyanthus Narcissus, five inches; Tulips, Double and Single Narcissus, Jonquils, Colchicums, Snow Flakes, Bulbous Iris, and Gladiolus, three inches; Crocus, Arums, Small Fritillaries, and Snow Drops, two inches; Ranunculus and Anemone, one and a half inches; Dogstooth Violet, one inch; always measuring from the top of the bulb. The rows should be ten inches apart, and the roots be placed from four to six inches apart in rows, according to their size.

Protection during Winter.—In the Middle and Northern States, it will on the approach of winter, be beneficial, though not absolutely necessary, to cover the beds with straw, tanners' bark, withered leaves, or light earth from the woods, (such as is formed by the decay of foliage,) to the depth of two or three inches, as it prevents any ill effects which a very severe season might have upon the roots. This covering must be carefully raked off early in the spring. The Polyanthus Narcissus, Hoop Petticoat Narcissus, and Arum Dracunculus, being more tender than other species, require a covering of five or six inches of straw or leaves in the manner above detailed.

Taking up Bulbs after Flowering.—About a month after the bloom is passed, the foliage puts on a yellow decayed appearance. This is the proper season for taking up the roots; on doing which, the stem and foliage should be cut off within an inch of the bulb, leaving the fibrous roots attached to it. After this preparation, spread them singly in an airy room to dry, for two or three weeks, then wrap each root carefully in paper, (the air being injurious,) or put them in dry sand, until replanted.

Anemone and Ranunculus.—The soil should be compact and rich, not light or sandy. A stiff loamy soil suits them very well; and with it there should be mixed one fourth part of rotten manure, and, in doing this, the earth ought to be well pulverized. In England they are planted about the 10th of February; and here they may with success be planted as early in the spring as the ground can be worked. We have had them to succeed well when planted at the end of October, or early in November, and protected during the winter with a covering of straw and leaves, which was removed early in the spring. They will bear a considerable degree of cold, but our intense frosts destroy them when not protected as above. They require a moist soil, but not over much so. Heavy rains injure and rot them; and the ground selected should be such as does not retain water and become sodden. In dry weather, they will require frequent waterings. When the roots are taken up after blooming, they should be preserved in dry sand till replanted.

Culture of Tender Bulbs in pots, comprising the Oxalis, Lachenalia, Ixia, Gladiolus, Antholyza, etc. etc.—The management of these is extremely simple. They should have as much light, sun, and air, as possible, and be kept free from frost. When the foliage is past, and the roots consequently in a dormant state, they can be either left in the pots, in a dry situation, without watering, or be taken out and wrapped in paper, or packed in sand till the ensuing season, at which period they should be repotted in fresh soil, composed as already detailed.

Culture of the Amaryllis and Tuberose.—The Amaryllis longifolia, (both rose colored and white,) is extremely magnificent, and will support our winters by planting the roots at the depth of six inches from the extremity of the neck of the bulb. A southern exposure is much to be preferred, the warmer the better. They will also flourish admirably if planted in a pond below the point of congelation. The Amaryllis Formosissima, vitata, aurea, belladona, equestris, double and single, reginæ, psittacina, Johnsoni, gigantea, ignescens, and all the other spring, summer, and autumn flowering species may, if preferred, be preserved during winter in boxes of dry sand, and planted out in the open garden at the end of April, or beginning of May, in a rich sandy loam, where they will bloom with the utmost splendor. The different species of Zephyranthes, Crinum, and Pancratium, will succeed admirably by the same course of culture. In planting the above-named roots, place the bulb so that one-third of its diameter will be above the surface of the ground. This is to apply to all, except the Amaryllis formosissima or Jacobean Lily, which should have the bulb covered, leaving the neck only to project above the surface of the ground. Tuberoses, and the Feraria tygridia, or Tiger flower, should be planted at the depth of one inch, the numerous offsets on the former being first broken off to prevent their impoverishing the main root and arresting the bloom. The double and striped leaved Tuberoses are greatly admired; the latter of these, and the Common Single flowering, are more certain in their bloom than the double variety. The species of Feraria are exceedingly beautiful, and therefore much admired.

Hyacinths and other Bulbs in pots or glasses for winter blooming.—For this purpose Single Hyacinths, and those designated as earliest among the Double, are to be preferred. The Polyanthus Narcissus, Italian, or Roman Narcissus, Double Narcissus, Double and Single Jonquils, Persian Iris, Crocus, the winter and spring flowering varieties of the Cyclamen, and the Double and Single Duke van Thol Tulips, make also a fine appearance during the winter season. Bulbs intended for blooming in pots during the winter, should be planted during the months of October and November, and left exposed to the open air until the ground begins to freeze, when they should be removed to the Greenhouse or to a warm room. They will need occasionally moderate waterings before they begin to vegetate, and when they attain to a growing state should receive a plentiful supply by pouring it into the saucers. They should at all times be exposed as much as possible to the sun, air, and light, to prevent their foliage from growing too long, or becoming of a yellow hue. Bulbs cultivated after this manner will mostly bloom in January, and next to the Hyacinth, the Polyanthus Narcissus, and Double Italian, or Roman Narcissus, may be ranked among the most desirable for beauty, fragrance, and easy culture.

Those intended for glasses should be placed in them about the middle of November, the glasses being previously filled with pure water, so that the bottom of the bulb may just touch the water; then place them for the first ten days in a dark room, to promote the shooting of the roots, after which expose them to the sun and light as much as possible. They will bloom, however, with little or no sun, but the flowers will be inferior in color. The water should be changed as often as it becomes impure, at which period the roots ought to be drawn entirely out of the glasses and rinsed in clean water, the glasses being at the same time well washed inside. Rain or soft water is preferable to that termed hard, but either will answer the purpose, provided it be perfectly clear. Bulbs that have been forced are of but little value, and require a considerable period to regain their natural vigor. When removed from the pots or glasses, they should be immersed in water for a week, and then planted in a soil properly prepared, where they will usually commence flowering again the second year.

DAHLIA, OR GEORGINA.

Few of our most rustic plants exact less care than this splendid native of Mexico. Indeed, so simple is its culture, that it is already widely disseminated in every part of Europe, as well as in the West Indies, South America, etc., in all of which it has been found to succeed. It will thrive in any good soil, but as is the case with other plants held in great estimation, amateurs bestow more care on its culture than is absolutely required, and have adopted particular rules for that object. The roots are tuberous, and towards the last of April they begin to push out young shoots at the base of the stem of the previous year. At this period, or in May, they should be planted; they will, however, succeed perfectly well if this is deferred till June, but will not come so soon into flowering. Plants grown in pots should not be planted until the frosts have entirely subsided. In England they usually, from choice, plant the Dahlia in poor, gravelly soil, in order to render it more dwarf in stature, and this course may have its advantage in a humid atmosphere. In our own country, however, where the heat of summer is excessive, and where we are sometimes visited by severe drought, the Dahlia would often be absolutely blighted, unless the soil were sufficiently rich and retentive of moisture. When planted in a generous soil, our climate is so extremely congenial to its habits, that it expands with the utmost luxuriance, attaining a degree of beauty in its development, if not unequalled, at least not to be surpassed.

For the gratification of amateurs, we annually plant specimen beds covering two to three acres, comprising all the rarest varieties, for the purpose of inspection and selection. It will be perceived that our collection is particularly rich in the splendid Variegated, Mottled, Spotted, and Shaded varieties.

The course we have adopted for its culture, although extremely simple, has been eminently successful, and the directions we shall now give are in accordance therewith. Make the ground mellow to the depth of eighteen inches, digging in at the same time a liberal supply of manure. Plant the dwarf kinds at three, and the tall ones at four feet distant; and before placing the roots, dig in a shovel full of manure at each hole destined to receive them. The root should be placed two inches beneath the surface—measuring from the base of the old stem. Most persons allow but one stalk to grow, and of course select the strongest—cutting away the weaker ones. When planted along a walk or avenue, a triple range presents a very beautiful appearance, the most dwarf being selected for the first row, those of greater stature for the second, and the tallest for the third row—indeed this manner of arrangement may be extended to five or six rows. Another mode is to plant them in clumps, either circular, square, or as the taste may suggest, the tallest varieties being selected for the centre. In either of these arrangements, a judicious selection of the various colors is requisite, in order to unite to their brilliant display, the advantage of a tasteful combination.

When the plants are about a foot high, a pole should be placed by each, proportioned to the usual height it attains, which should be driven into the ground about a foot from the stalk, so as not to interfere with the roots. The poles or stakes will necessarily vary from three to eight feet in height above the surface; and to be firmly placed, should penetrate the ground from twelve to eighteen inches. Those for the taller plants will require of course to be of greater thickness and strength than such as are designed for the more dwarf varieties. The work of driving the poles may be more easily effected immediately after a rain, when the ground is moist.

As the plants advance in growth, it will become necessary to tie the stalks firmly to the poles to guard against the effects of winds and storms. For this purpose, common bass matting, or any other soft ligature is to be preferred. The branches being extremely brittle, are subject to be broken in severe gales when not supported. Some persons train their Dahlias on a trellis, which affords security to every branch, and presents at the same time a fine effect. It is only in very exposed situations that the extreme caution is required of tying every branch; and in cities and in other well sheltered locations far less care will suffice in this respect. It is deemed beneficial to trim off the lateral shoots nearest the ground, to a certain height in proportion to the growth of the plant; say for dwarfs twelve inches, and for other varieties eighteen, increasing to twenty-four inches for the tallest. Some cultivators thin out about half the number of upper branches, in order to add to the strength of the remaining ones, and to increase the size and beauty of the flowers.

Wintering Dahlias.—As soon as the frost has killed the tops, cut them off, take up the roots, and dry them for two or three days in the sun, after which place them on shelves in a cellar perfectly dry and free from frost, or pack them in dry sand, where they may remain until the period for spring planting. Moisture is destructive to them, and in a damp cellar or room they are very liable to rot; but in a dry one not a single root will be injured, if kept free from frost.

Selection and Transportation.—When the selection is left to us, such an assortment will be selected as will present a pleasing combination of color, form, height, etc. When packed dry for transportation from September to May, they occupy so little space that a great number may be comprised in a small compass, and they can thus be transported to any distance.

ASSORTMENTS OF PLANTS.

The Proprietors will supply the following classes of plants in large or small assortments, at very reduced rates.

Camellia Japonica, or Japan Rose, of 300 varieties, at very low rates in assortments, varying from $100 to $150 per 100 plants, and from $12 to $24 per dozen. Some new and very rare varieties at higher rates. For the names of the entire collection, see Greenhouse Catalogue No. 4.

Roses, above 1000 most splendid and select varieties of every class, as enumerated in Catalogue No. 2, comprising the Chinese Daily, Tea, Bourbon, Nosette, Damask Perpetual, Hybrid Perpetual, Hybrid Chinese, Hybrid Bourbon, Scotch, Musk, Microphylla, Lawrencia, Macartney, Multiflora, Banksian, Provence, French, Damask, and other fine classes of Roses. Of these, 15,000 plants will be ready for delivery in September and October of the present year (1844), and to accommodate the proprietors of Nurseries and other venders, the following offer is made—

Roses will be supplied at $25 per 100 for cash sent with the order, each hundred comprising 25 to 50 real good and fine kinds, selected by the proprietors from those varieties of which they have a plentiful stock, (and not for inferiority,) half to be Chinese Daily, Tea, Nosette, Bourbon, and the Perpetual classes, and the other half of the Hybrid Chinese, Multiflora, Provence, Damask, French and other classes, or, if preferred, the whole to be of either of these two divisions.

Geraniums, of 200 varieties, comprising above 100 that are entirely new, and remarkable for the magnitude of their flowers, and for the brilliant and varied hues which distinguish them.

Passion Flowers, of 30 species and varieties, including the different Scarlet flowering kinds.

Magnolias.—The entire collection, comprising all the species and varieties known. Plants of the Thompsonia and Soulangiana varieties, of blooming size and all at reduced prices. Every species and variety of Magnolia is hardy except three, the fuscata, annonæfolia, and pumila, and all will be found enumerated and described in Catalogue No. 2, except the three named, which are in No. 4.

Chinese Azaleas, of above 75 varieties, comprising the most brilliant colors, and which, during their bloom in the winter months, present a display second only in brilliancy and variety of hues to the Camellia family, as enumerated in Catalogue No. 2. Many fine kinds are sold at $6, $4 50, and $3 per dozen.

Hardy Azaleas, of above 80 magnificent varieties, embracing the most choice and rare that could be selected from the collections of Europe and America.

Chrysanthemums, above 80 varieties, as enumerated in Catalogue No. 2, and at the low prices therein stated, including 30 new and very splendid varieties just imported and never before offered to the public.

Greenhouse Plants will be supplied in assortments of 25, 50, or 100 or more plants, each a distinct species or variety, at very reasonable rates, and such omitted as the applicant already possesses.

Hardy Herbaceous Flowering Plants will also be supplied in assortments of 25 or 50 species, or more, at moderate prices.

Carnations, Picotees, etc.—We have the satisfaction to announce that we have succeeded in obtaining from the various European collections above 200 varieties of this most beautiful class of plants, the most of which will be ready for delivery the present autumn, and are comprised in Catalogue No. 2. The expense has been very great, as in some cases we have imported 100 to 200 plants without obtaining more than five or six alive from each hundred. We offer assortments at $50, $37 50, $30, and $25 per 100 plants, and at $6, $4 50, and $3 per dozen, according to their beauty and rarity.

Chrysanthemums, Pæonies, Primroses, Polyanthus, Auriculas, Cowslips, Daisies, Iris, Hemerocallis, Phlox, Violets, Verbenas, and other interesting classes of Herbaceous Plants, see Catalogue No. 2.

GARDEN, AGRICULTURAL, AND FLOWER SEEDS.

The Catalogue of this department is very extensive, and we anncurce to all venders of Seeds, that we will supply every variety desired at very low wholesale rates, our prices being from 25 to 50 per cent. less than are usually charged, our desire being to present great inducements to those who will make prompt or sure arrangements for payment.

NEW CATALOGUES FOR 1844 AND 1845.

An entire series of new Catalogues is now in press and will be speedily issued, and will be sent gratis to every post-paid applicant.

The Descriptive Catalogue of Fruit Trees, etc., 34th edition, will be the most comprehensive publication of the kind that has ever appeared in any country, and will embrace all the estimable new varieties recently brought to notice, with ample descriptions of their merits.

The Descriptive Catalogue of Ornamental Trees, Shrubs, and Plants, will comprise descriptions of the foliage, flowers, height, and general character of every variety enumerated, thus imparting most important information to those who desire to make selections, and are not well informed on the subject, and far surpassing in general usefulness any similar publication.

The other Catalogues will comprise all the new acquisitions in their several departments, and all such information as may be deemed generally useful.

PRINCE'S MANUAL OF ROSES.

In press and will soon be ready for delivery, price 50 cents. "The Manual of Roses," with ample details on the culture and management of this interesting class of plants, and descriptions of the relative merits of a great number of the finest varieties, with lists of those most appropriate for forcing, and for the various other objects connected with ornamenting gardens and pleasure grounds, in order to aid the amateur in perpetuating a brilliant display of bloom throughout the year.

Twelve copies for $1 00.
